Mr. N. J. Bartlett,
Bookseller,
Cornhill,
Boston, Mass.

Dear Sir:-

On my return to New York I find that we have in the Library of our Society a copy of "Current Gold and Silver Coins of all Countries", which you quoted me a price on, and therefore am not interested in it.

By an oversight on my part I neglected to note which was the edition of the set of "The Annals of the Coinage of Great Britian by Ruding" that you have. Would it be too much trouble for you to let me know in regard to this as I believe I have a customer for it at the price of ten dollars which you quoted.

Yours very truly,

Ass't to the Curator.
